

I totally disagree with this proposal on several points.

1: One of the primary reasons for going to the 5 words per minute was to favor all applicants which for one reason or another were not able to grasp CW above the 10 word per minute barrier. Increasing the speed from the current 5 words per minute to 15 words per minute would once again present that situation.

2: The over simplification of this proposal would not give any valid reason to upgrade, and would in fact be counter productive.