

Please do something about the vulgar language and mature subject matter my kids have to see. If adults are watching later on fine, but it's difficult to explain to a 5yr old some of the words being said! The "inferences and implications" you allow are shameful and embarrassing. TV lately has been filled w/a smutty presentation of life here in America. No wonder 1/2 of the world hates us they make decisions based on what they see from our broadcasts...not realizing there are millions of decent law abiding citizen who don't shoot to kill drink excessively sleep around and speak like drill sergeants. I don't belong to any "group" or that I'm just a mom who's ashamed of what's been allowed and you've really let interest groups with all sorts of agendas push your buttons... would someone there stand up for decency and make some wiser decisions! I've had to turn it off completely many times...what happened to wholesome entertainment where a parent didn't have to screen just about everything in the evening? I'm upset at hearing that you're going to allow the F word ...sorry to chew you out but you needed it! Roberta Grace
