

I believe that distance estimates are being used in a monopolistic manner by BellSouth. I used to have DSL provided by DirectTVDSL. After they folded, I tried to get DSL from other providers that have access to the CO but I was denied because I was no longer within ADSL range. The only company that has told me that I qualify is BellSouth.