DHCO obeys all state laws for such groups

By TOM HINTZE
and TREESHA DeFRANCE
Special to the Courier

We feel we must respond to Steve Dibble's Jan. 4 letter because it contains so many inaccuracies about the Dewey-Humboldt Community Organization (DHCO). Since we have been in the news so much, we would like the public to know the facts about our organization.

First of all, the DHCO is an Arizona non-profit organization, established in 1997, after several years of operating informally. We have a mission statement, bylaws and fulfill all the state's requirements to operate as a 501-C3 corporation. We have general meetings monthly that the membership attends. Membership is open to all residents who have a Dewey or Humboldt address.

To answer Mr. Dibble's question, yes, the membership elects the board of directors annually at the November general meeting.

The mission statement of the DHCO empowers us to serve this community and its needs. Our legal status and the support of the active members are the source of our credibility, which is not "self-imposed" nor "imaginary support," but very legal and legitimate empowerment by the vote of the people.

At times we do conduct polls or circulate petitions as we are doing with our incorporation petition. In the past, the Board of Supervisors approached us (not the other way around as Mr. Dibble stated) to create and later update our Community Plan.

Far from the picture Mr. Dibble paints, we do report on the wishes of the majority of the residents and are not operating from some "single minded" agenda we have established.

When we went door to door to collect signatures from registered voters who are residents, we found about 80 percent to 90 percent of the people signed the petition for incorporation. So, it is from this basis of information that we operate.

We respect everyone's right to their own opinion even if it differs from the majority as does Mr. Dibble's. The growth along Highway 69 is inevitable, but the citizens of Dewey-Humboldt should have a say in how it develops.

We would like to invite Mr. Dibble to come to the DHCO community meetings held at 7 p.m. on the second Tuesday of every month at Bradshaw Mountain Middle School. That way he could keep informed about how and why the DHCO operates.

(Tom Hintze and Treasha deFrance, both of Dewey, are DHCO board members.)

From Your Principal....

The school year has been an exciting, fast paced one and it's hard to believe we are now in the second semester. The second quarter report cards were distributed to the students the first week back from vacation. I encourage anyone who wishes to discuss their child's progress to call our teams to arrange a team conference. It is the midway point of the school year and we must stay on top of student needs and successes.

Our next S.I.T.E. Council meeting is scheduled for Thursday, February 19 at 4:30 P.M. in the school library. All who are interested are welcomed and encouraged to attend. One agenda item is planning for the 8th grade end-of-the-year celebration. Eighth grade parents are encouraged to assist in this planning and take the lead in the always anticipated 8th grade promotion dance. We are looking for a parent or two to chair this dance committee. Please call the office (759-4900) and let us know of your interest.

I wish to thank all of you who took the time to participate in our school survey at Parent-Teacher conferences. The results are published in this addition of the Bruin News. Please check them out and if any questions arise, please do not hesitate to call.

This year all grade levels will be taking the AIMS test. AIMS testing is scheduled for the week of April 19 – 23. The Stanford 9 tests, also taken by all grade levels is scheduled for March 29 – April 3. It is important that your child be in attendance at those important times.

As we find ourselves at the halfway point of the 2003-04 school year I wish to thank you for your support to our teachers, your child, and Bradshaw Mountain Middle School. Together, we make a powerful team. The following is a message to each Bradshaw student:

To our 6th Gr. EXPLORERS: I hope your anxieties , nervousness and fright about going to the "middle school" have proved unfounded. You have wonderful teachers to work with and help you through the transition. The year is now half over and soon we will be coming to you for registration information for seventh grade. Keep up your grades and finish strong!

To our 7th Gr. S.T.A.R.S.: I trust you're living up to your name, Students Taking Action and Responsibility Sensibly. We also will be coming to you soon for registration purposes. Those of you who have been working to your full potential since the beginning of school, congratulations and keep it up! Those of you who have more energy and excellence to give.....let it shine !

To our 8th Gr. Dream Team: Thank you for your leadership to this point and I trust you'll provide us with just as much for the second half of the year. Do not...and I repeat....Do not lose sight of a strong finish in your 8th grade experience. Yes, high school looms on the horizon, and they are definitely exciting years. Keep your focus for the weeks ahead. We will be coming to you with high school information as it becomes available to us.

Be proud you are a part of an Arizona Excelling School! The efforts of all are the reason we are in the top 10 % of schools within the state. As always, thank you for very much for being a Bradshaw Mountain Middle School family.

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR PTSO

Please continue to send in your BOX TOPS FOR EDUCATION. For each box top collected we gain points to be used as cash to purchase classroom supplies, library books, sports and playground equipment, landscaping projects and to support special programs. There is a container in the office. Thank you!

If you would like to attend a meeting, we meet on the second Monday of each month at 6:30 in the library. Please consider joining us at our next meeting, February 9th.

Environmental Education at the Grand Canyon National Park

BMMS sixth graders have an opportunity to participate in a guided excursion by the Forest Service to the Grand Canyon. This will be an overnight field trip where students will unravel the story of how the Grand Canyon was formed. Students will hike part of the canyon, investigate fossil sites, and explore the changing ways in which people have valued the canyon over time.

Students will be expected to meet the following third quarter criteria in order to be able participate in this experience:

1. No more than 2 assignment memos
2. No more than 2 lunch detentions
3. Read and pass 2 Reading Counts! books

4. No referrals or ASD

Space is limited to thirty students. A drawing will be held of eligible students to choose participants.

S.T.A.R.S.

A note to all STARS parents: Midterm progress reports will be distributed no later than Wednesday, February 4th. If your child does not bring home a progress report from each of his or her teachers, please let us know. Thanks!

Dream Team

It's crunch time—time to buckle down and do some serious work in eighth grade. Important projects have begun in language arts and science. The teachers have drawn up their plans, and now it's up to each student to prioritize, organize, and dig in.

In language arts classes, students have read biographies and are now preparing oral presentations. From the life stories they read, the students learned valuable lessons. Due dates: book read and notes completed, 1-27-04; final draft of essay due, 2-10-04; jackdaw bag presentations, week of 2-18-04.

All year the eighth graders have been participating in the school-wide Reading Counts program. This supplementary, incentive reading program includes a BMMS goal for each student to complete at least eight books by May. At the completion of each book, the student takes a reading comprehension test to be sure that he/she did indeed comprehend the story. As of January 23, only 47 of the eighth-grade students had read four or more books. Please encourage your children to turn off the T.V. and video games, find a comfortable place, and immerse themselves in reading. The tangible reward is a bowling outing; the intangible reward is the joy of becoming a lifelong reader.

In science classes, individual science projects are under way. According to the Northern Arizona Regional Science & Engineering Fair 2004 booklet,

The most important work of scientists is investigation and discovery. Scientists use observations, measurements, and experiments to investigate and explore the unknown in order to discover new ideas and new knowledge [...]

Projects that ask questions and seek answers through investigations are true science projects. An investigative project may require a little more work and thinking, but the results will be more exciting and much more satisfying. The key is to choose a topic that interests you and then plan your project, do some research on your topic, perform an experimental investigation, and analyze your results to draw new conclusions and knowledge. This process is called the scientific method (14).

Due dates in Mr. Schmidt's classes: progress check #2 on 1-30-04 with hypothesis, progress check #3 on 2-6-04 with materials list, progress check #4 on 2-13-04 with procedure, final project due on 3-5-04. The best projects will be entered in the Northern Arizona Regional Science & Engineering Fair in March.

Positive attitudes, diligence, and support from parents and teachers will carry our students successfully through these projects. If you have questions or comments, please contact us by phone or write us a note. Thanks for all you do to provide your children the best learning environment possible at home.

Why Do I Need to Wash My Hands?

You know the question that comes out of every parent's mouth 1,000 times a day. No, it's not "Why can't you leave your sister (or brother) alone?" It's not "Why is the dog wearing your baseball hat?" or even "What is your homework doing all bunched up at the bottom of your backpack?!" It's "Did you wash your hands?" Why are adults so hung up on hand washing? Why are they so in love with lather?

Washing your hands is the best way to stop germs from spreading. Think about all the things that you touched today - from your telephone to the toilet, your sweaty T-shirt to your slimy tissue, your darling hermit crab to the dirt pile by the playground. Even though you can't see them, many things that you touch every day are covered with germs. When you have germs on your hands, you can pass them to other people without even knowing it and make them sick. Or those same germs can make you sick by hitching a ride into your body each time you touch your food or put your hands in your mouth. Think about how many foods you eat with your hands every day.

That's where hand washing comes in. Soaping up makes germs sorry because it rinses them away. When germs go down the drain, they can't make anyone sick.

So when are the best times to wash your hands?

- before eating or touching food in any way (like if you're helping cook or bake, for example)
- after using the bathroom
- after blowing your nose or coughing
- after touching any pets or animals
- after playing outside
- after visiting a sick relative or friend

Now you have the when and the why of hand washing. But did you know that a lot of people don't know how to get their paws perfectly clean? The next time you're told to step up to the sink and scrub up, remember these handy hints:

1. Use warm water when you wash your hands. Warm water is better at killing germs. But be careful you don't burn yourself with water that is too hot.
2. Use whatever soap you like. Some soaps come in cool shapes and colors or smell nice, but whatever kind gets you scrubbing is the kind you should use. Antibacterial soaps are OK to use, but they're not necessary for getting rid of germs.
3. Work up some lather on both sides of your hands, your wrists, and between your fingers. Don't forget to wash around your nails - germs' favorite finger hideaway. You should wash for about 10 to 15 seconds. This is about as long as it takes to sing the chorus of a song from start to finish, so sing while you scrub!
4. Rinse and dry well with a clean towel.

Library News

The Scholastic Book Fair will be here on February 19! The book fair will be open from 7:30 a.m.-3:00p.m; the fair will also be open the night of the school dance Friday, February 20 from 6:00-9:00. The book fair is the library's main source of fundraising, so I would just like to thank everyone, students, parents, volunteers, and staff, in advance for their support. The students are really working towards their Reading Counts goal of eight books by the end of the school year! So far the students have read over 1700 books. Keep up the good work! This year I am coaching the 6th grade girl's basketball team, I am really looking forward to an exciting season. We received a lot of donations towards the team so the girls have new uniforms, team t-shirts, a banner, and Costco donated water bottles and snacks. I would like to thank the local businesses for donating money to support the team:

ETS SUCCESS IS CONSISTENTLY PRESENT AT BMMS

Last semester ETS helped around 25 students understand their subjects better through online tutoring. ETS Success, A TRIO program, has been consistently present at BMMS on a weekly basis. Though time is very limited per week during Homebase, the weekly presence means a big advantage in serving our school because students form relationships with each other and with the ETS counselors. They also receive specialized technology advantages, after school Cyber Café, and the fieldtrip privileges. When students see ETS staff regularly, there is good attendance and results. If you are interested in getting your student involved in ETS Success, call 717-7655 for more information. ETS Success is committed to helping kids succeed in school, provides mentoring during and after school and begins directing students toward college educations and careers that fit their personalities. It's free, but it's powerful!
