

I feel that I am being ripped off by Qwest because I chose to live in small town USA.

It seems like Qwest is deliberately dragging their feet in getting broadband out to the smaller communities in northern Minnesota, and I'm sure, other states.

Am I considered a second class citizen because I live in a communittee of less than one thousand souls?