

why do you care about stern and what he says? because janet showed an aging and sagging boob? who cares. it is called a publicity stunt just like roseanne making fun of the anthem back in the day. hey i got an idea. lets turn this country into one similar to that of south america and start having public executions for denouncing the government. i am sure that will make colin powell's son more famous.