Hello. I recently subscribed to XM satellite radio. I like new technology and I especially like XM because of its clear signal and mostly commercial free programming. Although Columbus, OH is not one of the major markets that XM has weather and traffic for, I am at least glad it is there in case I am travelling. I am disappointed that the NAB is trying to limit local traffic and weather on a service that I pay money for. I hope Columbus gets its own traffic and weather channel because I would like to listen to it since most local FM stations in Columbus do so poorly at it. I did listen to 105.7 in the mornings, especially for The Bob and Tom Show, and did listen to traffic and weather there but steadily over time the weather and traffic reporting has gotten quite poor and is basically a cookie cutter recording used on just about every station in Columbus. I have actually listened to traffic then changed channels and heard the same traffic recording again. Its so bad. weather, at least on 105.7, comes after all the commercials so you have to listen to like 7 minutes of commercials to hear weather and its not really very descriptive anyway. Its so bad, I get weather from the internet and don't even care about traffic so what does the NAB care, I'm not using FM now anyway. Very large companies like Clear Channel (monopoly) have bought up so many stations that there is no local programming left anymore and that has pretty much ruined it for FM stations. Now that I have XM, I don't want FM anymore. I can listen to Bob and Tom online and get my weather from the net too and I can do what most people can't do, look out my windshield for traffic. GO XM!
