

I am sure that you are already aware of this fact but there have been several broadcasts by Clear Channel Radio Stations encouraging their listeners to promote violence against cyclists. I find this deeply frightening, considering that I am a cyclist myself. I would like you to know that there are many people in the world who do not like cyclist to begin with and the last thing that all cyclists need is for some radio station like Clear Channel to encourage violence against cyclists.