

The Commission's stance on BPL seems to favor a useless, disruptive technology at the expense of other services, some with a 100 year tradition of volunteerism. This is a violation of the public trust that the Commission is charged with protecting, and it makes everyone I talked to doubt your impartiality and independence. Please explain to my two sons, who have recently been introduced to amateur radio, why they will have to face this gross pollution on the bands that have been set aside for decades for other uses, far more important than BPL. Please explain to me why you are giving priority to businesses (which already have an ample share of the spectrum, and can easily use alternative media such as fiber) at the likely expense of HF spectrum occupied by life-saving services.

Please remember that "the people own the airwaves". Thank you. I hope you can sleep well tonight.
