

The CAN-SPAM act is completely useless. We now have more spam than ever I am now getting 68 junk faxes and about 90 spams aay for porn sites, "herbal viagra", mortgage companies and spam software. I am not exaggerating! The best way to make this all go away, would be to encourage individuals or organizations to locate and sue these people, not just ISP's. It needs to be economically unviable to use spam to promote something. There needs to be a clear law against spamming, junk faxing and telemarketing and it needs to be enforced. I pay for these services, not the freeloading marketing weasels! I'm about to pull the plug on my fax machine since you don't seem to be able or willing to enforce existing laws against Fax.com and other criminals. I will really be angry if I have to do the same with my email. Right now, it looks to me like the FCC is exclusively in the hands of big business and special interests. You should all go home!
