

All of the major channels are doing a good job with captions. (I cannot watch TV without captions except for sports.)

I wish more of the non majors would use captions. One of my favorites is the British comedies that come on PBS. About 50+% of the time there are no captions. Same can be said for some of the other non major stations except it is probably more than 50% non captions.

I appreciate what is there and hope it will continue to grow!
