

The multiple applications rule has been sadly abused for years and should be stopped. One good reason is the increased workload on the commission; handling all those applications, and then the multiple refunds. One application per day for a given call is an idea that's time has come.