

As a hard of hearing person, I always enjoy many shows that media provided. Sometimes, the closed captions didn't show up or garbled through the program, I feel disappointed that the media is not aware of the diverse needs in American homes. The closed captions gives benefits for many ages, for the young, they can learn to read. for the deaf people, they can enjoy and be involved, for the senior citizens, as their hearing degenerates, they still can enjoy their shows the same with the closed captions. I encourage you all to remember that America is diverse and it is important to have the information and public consent for all to have.
