

I think that the FCC should ban the line-item fees that cellular phone companies add to bills. I also think that all fees and taxes should be included in all pre-contract information provided by the cellular phone companies so that the consumer will know exactly what their monthly bill will be. If I had known that I would be paying $20.00-$23.00 extra in "fees and taxes" for my 4 phone family plan, I would have researched other wireless providers. Unfortunately I didn't have this information until after I had received my first bill.
