

Wireless Internet Service providers need greater access to Radio Spectrum 3.6 Ghz band in order to effectively service their clients, both in urban and in rural areas. 2.4 GHz is getting congested and is resulting in problems effectively servicing clients.