

We could really use the 3.6Ghz band for outdoor only high powered wireless broadband use. The noise floor in the 2.4Ghz in our area is overpowering our EIRP tower deployments for wireless broadband in our area. This is due mostly to high powered indoor wireless routers in the 2.4Ghz region.