

I don't want the U.S. Government reading my email for one very simple reason: I have lost all faith in them. What started out as a free country with a free flowing of free ideas has fallen victim to an evil greed so unspeakable it hides between the lines of new laws like this, and invades our private lives one aspect at a time. To what end is unbearable to contemplate, but I certainly hope you sleep at night, reader, because I do. I use an equal mix of honesty, integrity and humanity. Try some.
