

This would be redundant since the information can already be gotten through other means. Making wiretapping easier would simply encourage government agencies to wiretap.