

I have become aware that it is possible that the radio station K-Love might be replaced by a LPFM station sometime in the future. This is very disturbing. I have been listening to K-Love for over 3 years. It is the only station that I listen to. I support the station with a monthly pledge. K-Love has been very encouraging to me during some very difficult emotional times. It is a station that encourages and is never insulting or embarrassing. I do not have to worry about the lyrics of the songs they play or about comments made by the disc jockeys. If K-Love was no longer on the air, I would be very disappointed. I would probably not listen to any other radio station and my drive to and from work would not be as nice. K-Love provides music and spiritual support that is not available through any other radio station. I hope that you will not consider replacing it with an other radio station. There are not many stations that provide encouragement and that are supported by the listeners of the station.
