

1: I listen to K-LOVE here in Denver, CO and am worried about the possibility of losing our signal due to a new ruling you may enact regarding LPFM stations taking priority over FM translator service. K-LOVE's music and service are extremely important to our family, especially in raising our family in a Christian household. The station keeps us grounded and without the music and message, we would be losing an important and uplifting part of our day.

2: As a community, we would be losing a valuable commodity if K-LOVE were to be replaced by an LPFM station. The station brings people of all ages and races together and allows us to enjoy an uplifting message throughout the week. The station allows people from all parts of the US to share special moments together, regardless of location.

3: Service provided by K-LOVE is in the public interest as it helps soothe stresses caused by a hard day at work, a long commute, or just an overall stressful day. When I listen to K-LOVE, it brings a calmness to my day and I feel others who listen to the station feel the same.

Having a large segment of the population living a calmer life is a huge benefit to the local community.
