

The original legislative intent of CALEA was only to support wiretapping of voice communications systems. CALEA ought not be used to justify invading the privacy of broadband Internet users.