

If putting broadband over power lines will increase the availability of broadband to Americans then we should do it.