

It is my belief that the states' Do Not Call List stringency should be the minimum of that of the Federal, not the same. The federal list can look to the successes and failures of the states' versions for improvements to its own. I implore that you do not weaken the WI state's list or any other list so it can benefit those it was designed to put limitations upon. It would be similar to lessening the descriptions of crimes so that the criminals can benefit thus undermining the justice system further. Thank you for your time.
