

I really do not want to see a change in the no-call list. It is so pleasant to come home from work and not have to run and grab the phone only to find someone trying to sell you something. I feel if I need to purchase something, it is my obligation to call for the service that I need. Thanks for listening.