

I am totally against the erosion of my personal time, via the telephone, just for the convenience of businesses who want to invade my personal time for every willy-nilly thing they can come up with. If they want my telephon number they can ask me (via US mail) and if I want them to have it, I will give it to them.