

The matter of this proceeding threatens the viability of my ISP. In this case, regulation by the FCC takes the form of forcing potential holders of monopoly to share their resource, in this case copper telephone connections. Regulation here acts like deregulation of the phone industry - a successful strategy.