

I do not feel financial institutions should be able to call customers on the Do Not Call List. Having worked at a financial institution myself, I realize what a hassle this would be for customers.