

I strongly oppose the effort by the CBA to challenge Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. It seems to me that commercial businesses could use Postal Service to try to sell their products and services rather than use the telephone to disturb people in the privacy of their homes. Indiana's law has been a boon to individuals.