

It is very important to the deaf community and videophone relay users to have highly qualified/RID certified interpreters. Professional jobs require certification or licenses such as teachers and lawyers, therefore companies providing the videophone relay services should never hire interpreters without RID certificates. Any interpreters without certifications can cause misunderstandings and/or can be violents of code of ethnics. Please continue setting high standards for interpreters to work for telecommunication relay services.