

If the satellite is sold to EchoStar, then you are allowing a monopoly with only two satellite TV companies to choose from. The FCC needs to consider the public and that HDTV is the future of television. Allowing this creates such power to the two companies that nobody will ever be able to compete. This would start a bad precedent and should be stopped.