

The approval of this motion will hurt the competition in the satellite HDTV market. Echostar doesn't have any plans and/or intentions to keep Voom HD programming and/or expand their own tiny HDTV package. The decision to sell Rainbow-1 was approved by CVC board against the will of their chairman, who is committed to keep Voom. CVC actually should not hurt satellite HDTV market also. I am Voom HDTV subscriber for 9 month and want FCC to block this sale and help HDTV satellite competition.
