

I have been a Voom customer since August 2004 and am very happy with the service. HDTV has improved the quality of television for me, and Voom is a big reason for this. Rainbow-1 should continue to operate at the 61.5 frequencies. The transfer of the satellite to Echostar would be in direct opposition of the FCC's past rulings that side on increased competition and consumer choices.