

I strongly object to the sale of Satellite Rainbow 1 by Rainbow DBS to Echostar. I subscribe to the Voom service and wish to continue doing so - no other service offers such a large number of High Definition channels, which is why I subscribed to Voom in the first place. Plus, the sale will diminish competition in satellite broadcasting, a negative development for satellite TV viewers.