

The wife and I continue to oppose any effort by the FCC to weaken the provisions of the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law. It is so nice to know that, when the telephone rings, it is a friend on the line and not some telemarketer trying to sell us something. If I want to talk to my financial institution, I will call them.