

Indiana has a consumer based voluntary "do-not-call" list. Any consumer can make his or her own decision about placing their telephone number on this list. This kind of privacy protection is exactly what I am looking for. I don't want the government, local, state, or federal trying to decide what they think is best for me.