

I am very pleased with Indiana's Do-not-call List. It has saved us a lot of hassle and intrusions into our privacy. Do not weaken this law. No one has the right to be a pest. If I choose not to be bothered by the telemarketers, then that is my right. They do not have a right to intrude and disturb the sanctity of my home. They do not have the right to tie up my cellphone when I need it for important business.
