

These people invade our privacy with automated as well as other means of contact with little or no regard to who they are calling or what situations they might be interrupting. They are aware of the law and they should be prosecuted.