

I urge the FCC to honor the legislation residents and legislative bodies have chosen in regard to telephone solicitation. The Do Not Call laws in Indiana have improved family life for Indiana residents. Finally, families can sit down to dinner together without interruption from shady building contractors, long-lasting light bulb sellers, and tenacious photo takers. Please do not be swayed by some psuedo-charity to undermine this model law. Instead, grant other states the same freedom from telephone harrassment that we enjoy.
