

My amateur callsign is KI4FRK. I recently upgraded to General. I am opposed to ending the code requirement. The written tests include questions about the various modes of operation available to amateurs, and I think amateurs need to be familiar with Morse Code as well. It is a popular mode, and 5 WPM is simply familiarization. It isn't that hard, and if someone wants to be a ham, they'll learn it.