

I have enjoyed the break from countless telemarketing calls. Indiana residents should continue to have the right to choose whether they would like to accept these types of calls, with no modifications.