

I agree with dropping the morse code requirement. I would be more inclined to obtain my amatuer radio operators license if I could go for all classes without learning morse code. Because this is an outdated mode of operation.