

Amateur radio has long since moved from a "you build it and you fix it" hobby to more of a "plug and play" hobby. Its time that the licensing requirements follow along. Dropping the morse code requirements is a good start.