

Dear FCC,

I will keep this short, as I know you are getting plenty of comments about it.

I think the FCC should drop the CW(Morse Code) requirement for getting a General or an Extra class amateur license. CW is just an obsolete mode. I think the hobby could grow and improve if we did away with such an unnecessary obstacle. I know many good hams that would be an asset to service if they could upgrade.

Thanks, Andrew Jay Nabholz