

I agree with the FCC to drop all code requirements for the General and also the extra class test. and just follow the rest of the countrys that have already dropped the code test. and leave the bands for cw and phone just the way they are now. just without the code test.