Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

Dear Sec Dortch,

I hear that the FCC is changing the way it collects fees for the Universal Service Fund to one that is a flat fee. I don't agree with this approach. It will cause my rates to go up unfairly. I recently went to a prepaid phone plan because the current cell plans are too much. I am not yet a member of the Keep USF Fair Coalition, but I do watch this issue on their website.

Charging me extra so that businesses, who make many more calls (and I believe this would support telemarketing, which is really a business but more of a scam which takes advantage of old folks), is flat out wrong. Isn't this really just welfare for businesses? Do something for average Americans like me and dump the flat-fee proposal.

Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Cordially, Andy Heidemann 3908--B Via Diego Santa Barbara, Ca.
