

We need these frequencies. We are in an area with a lot of 900 MHz spectrum use, and the use of the unused TV bands would really help alleviate this problem. We have some customers that can't even get signal because of the amount of 900MHz interference in their area, or because they're not in the line of sight of the Access Point. I am confident that every person in the US that wants wireless Broadband could have it, if we are given the frequency band that some think should be auctioned off, helping the US economy more than a one-time auction could.
