

Please open up more unlicensed spectrum to the wireless broadband community. Tree penetrating 700MHz is the answer. Most of rural America is hidden behind hills and trees making higher frequencies not effective. If the US is to compete with Asian & European business markets, rural broadband needs to be made available to all.