

Hello my name is Darin Watrous and i am a newly licesnsed ham radio operator. I wanted to voice my opinion in regards to removing the morse code requirement for the HF bands. Why has the FCC not responded to the change of rules that has been filed. Every other country has removed morse code requirements on testing why has the US not followed suit? Morse code is a mode of operation one that many hams dont even use. Why would this remain a requirement for others hams if they dont wish to use this mode.
