

I fully support and endorse the actions listed under NPRM 02-235. While use of the morse code is still a viable mode, maintaining morse code proficiency as a licensing requirement serves no legitimate government purpose and runs counter to the established purposes of the Amateur Radio Service in the 21st century.

--Brian D Heaton