

The Morse Code is no longer used by many countries and the military doesn't use it anymore. It seems that now is the time to drop the code from license requirements.

A friend of mine used to send, receive and type on a manual typewriter at 65 wpm. Who does he talk to? No one.

Technology in communications has changed everything.